

“Map Tile” means the data needed to render an appropriate map of  $1/2^{2n}$  of a projected version of the portion of the Earth’s geography between approximately 85 and -85 degrees latitude, where n is the cardinal zoom level being used. A Map Tile at one zoom level quadrisections the Map Tiles of the next lower zoom level. For example, at zoom level 0, one tile covers the whole projected area, at zoom level 1, the Map Tile covers  $1/4$  of the projected area, at zoom level 2, a Map Tile covers  $1/16$  of the projected area. Map Tiles will be served to you from Mapbox APIs as raster image tiles.

“Map Tiles API” means <http://api.tiles.mapbox.com> or another URL identified by Mapbox that returns Map Tiles requested by the API user.
